REGISTER OF DOCUMENTS NO. 27: GOLD FIELDS COLLECTION

The documents described in this Register are the "non-book" materials from the collection presented to Rhodes University for the Cory Library by Gold Fields of South Africa Ltd. It contains manuscripts and documents, books, photographs, newspapers, pamphlets, maps and memorabilia.

These materials were assembled from 1944 onwards by the firm as a Rhodes Memorial Library and Museum. This Library was established to cover the history and traditions of the Company and its subsidiaries, successors to the original Rhodes, Rudd and Caldecott Syndicate, with special reference to Cecil John Rhodes.

The establishment took place as the Company was nearing its 60th Anniversary and Mr F.C.M. Bawden, who was in charge from the early days until his death in 1968 was able to build up the collection both by purchase and by assembling materials in the records of Gold Fields and its subsidiaries.

In 1976 Gold Fields decided that the Collection should be made available to researchers and chose Rhodes University as the most appropriate institution through which to do this.

At the time of the deposit in the Cory Library the University Librarian, Dr. F.G. van der Riet, commented, "I think that this is about the biggest gift that has come to the Cory Library since it was first established with the Cory Collection." The size of the deposit was a major factor in the decision to retain the usual policy for these Registers and to list only the "non-book" items here. The book collection numbers just over 2000 titles and has been fully catalogued in the Library's card catalogues. Details can be obtained from the Librarians. The subject fields covered are those of the original Rhodes Library in the main.

This Register represents the first detailed catalogue of the "non-book" sections of the Rhodes Library and it is, perhaps, slightly sad that it goes out under another name but it was felt that for a collection in the Rhodes University Library to be called the Rhodes Library might result in confusion and so the Gold Fields Collection was born.

All materials in the Collection are available to researchers and the Cory Librarians will be happy to assist visiting researchers or to supply further information on items here listed. Photostat or microfiche copies of material can be supplied under the Cory Library's normal conditions.

NOTE ON TERMINOLOGY

This list has been in preparation for a number of years. In that time certain proper names (e.g. "Rhodesia", "Lourenço Marques") have been changed. In order to avoid further delays in the production of the list which would be necessitated by changing the old terms and rearranging the alphabetical order of items it has been decided to leave such names as they were when the list was originally compiled.
