FOREWORD

REGISTER OF DOCUMENTS NO. 31

It is five years since the publication of the Cory Library's last Register of documents no. 30 in 1987. This gap is not indicative of any lull but rather reflects a period of heightened activity and major technological developments in the Cory Library which have interrupted the Library's publication programmes. These years have seen a time of unprecedented growth both in terms of new collections and in the number of users from within and without the University. The URICA integrated library system has been installed in the Rhodes Library and Cory Library's holdings, including the manuscript and other non-book materials, are being added as rapidly as possible.

In addition, we continue to supply details of our collections to the National Register of Manuscripts (NAREM) and the National Register of Photographs (NAREF) data-bases. Details of the documents itemised in this Register have been, or will be, included in the published editions of the Guide to manuscripts in the Cory Library for Historical Research obtainable from the State Archives Service. The Cory Library offers on-line access to these data-bases and we consider this facility invaluable in our geographically isolated situation.

Register of documents no. 31 lists the archives of St Aidan's College (Grahamstown), the papers of W H D Deacon (United Party Member of Parliament for Albany from 1969 to 1977) and a number of smaller collections of documents, pamphlets, periodicals, pictorial material, maps, plans and sound recordings.

Conditions of deposit and access can differ considerably from collection to collection. Full details can be obtained from the Cory Librarian.

The Cory Librarian is grateful to the individuals and institutions who have made these collections available for research purposes in the Cory Library.
