There is a female cat named Fory in our home.

She loves to be around humans, moving around human legs. Especially when someone is eating something.

Fory's fur is black, grey and white.

She has yellow,
brown eyes and she is seven years old.

She is a very BIG, loveable and healthy cat because my Uncle always feeds her with milk and cat food. She doesn't like to eat food that humans eat, especially meat.

Fory once fell pregnant and decided to give birth under the bed.

We were very scared to know there is a cat with Kittens under the bed!

She is always playing with her kittens, using her mouth and taking them up and down, showing them how life is.

Fory helps us a lot, especially when we have rats in the house.
She doesn't eat the rats, only helps keep them away.

When she wants to go outside,
She scratches the door with her nails.

During Guy Fawkes day every year most people, especially children, light fireworks. For, like many other animals, gets very scared. They all run around wanting a place to hide.

Fory especially doesn't like the sound of fireworks. She hides herself under the bed for three or more days!

We welcomed her with love and kindness because she seemed very hungry , we love to pamper her with milk and cheese.

Fory is with us now and we love her very much.
