

INTERNATIONAL TRADE LAW

2018

Lecturer: Adv Shuaib Rahim
Office: F5A
T: 046 603 8751
E: s.rahim@ru.ac.za

1. INTRODUCTION

International Trade Law is an elective course offered to final-year LLB students. The objective of the course is to provide a broad overview of what is an extremely large and complex area of law, together with a more detailed consideration of certain key topics. The course follows the traditional format of lectures and class discussions and students are in addition expected to do a considerable amount of reading and research both in preparation form and as a follow-up to lectures.

Lecture attendance is compulsory and a register will be taken at each lecture. If a student does miss a lecture, that student must obtain a copy of the lecture notes and any handouts or references from a fellow student prior to the next lecture. It is every student's responsibility to sign the attendance register which is circulated during lectures.

2. ASSUMPTIONS OF PRIOR LEARNING

It is assumed that students entering the course are able to:

- Understand and communicate effectively in both written and spoken English;
- Locate, read, interpret and extract legal principles from international agreements, decisions of South African and foreign courts and tribunals and various academic works;
- Study autonomously;
- Apply legal principles in order to solve practical problems.

3. OUTCOMES

By the end of the course, students should:

- Have a broad understanding of the scope and importance of international trade law;
- Have a general understanding of the main organisations (in particular the World Trade Organisation) international agreements and relationships which govern and enforce the terms of international commercial transactions;
- Understand the nature of the legal relationship between international buyers and sellers of goods;
- Have engaged fully with the current issues in international trade law;
- Be able to solve complex legal problems involving international trade law;
- Be able to be critical of the current law, and be able to propose ways in which the law can be developed;
- Have a better understanding of the different views and perspectives on international trade law and how they relate to the students' own views.

4. Course Topic Outline:

PART A

1. An introduction to the World Trade Organisation
2. The Dispute Settlement Understanding (DSU)
3. The Most Favoured Nation Principle (MFN)
4. National Treatment
5. Antidumping and Countervailing Duties
6. The Agreement on Subsidies and Countervailing Measures (SCM)
7. The Agreement on Technical Barriers to Trade (TBT)
8. The Agreement on Sanitary and Phytosanitary Measures (SPS)

PART B

9. Formation of international sales contract, history and overview of the regulation of such contracts
10. Problems in international commercial transactions
11. The United Nations Convention of Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (CISG)
12. The buyer's obligations and the seller's remedies
13. The seller's obligations and the buyer's remedies
14. Critical evaluation of the CISG.

5. RESOURCES

There is no prescribed textbook for this course, as no single textbook covers all the material included in the course. Instead, there are four textbooks which cover different parts of the course, all of which are on short loan. These texts are:

PART A

- P van den Bossche The Law and Policy of the World Trade Organization 3 ed (2013) Cambridge University Press
- M Matsushita The World Trade Organisation: Law, Policy, and Practice 3 ed (2015) Oxford University Press

PART B

- CF Forsyth Private International Law 5 ed (2012) Juta
- R Fentiman International Commercial Litigation (2010) Oxford University Press

Students will further be provided with a spare reading list for each section during lectures which will refer to a range of journal articles and cases, some of which are available in the Law Library, others are available online. In this regard, students are expected to make frequent use of RUCConnected where links to important readings for the course will be posts from time to time.

6. ASSESSMENT

There will be one assignment and one test. Together, these assessments comprise the class component of the course and account for 30% of the final mark. A two hour examination to be written in June comprises the remaining 70%.

I wish you a fantastic year!

Adv Shuaib Rahim

February 2018